From the library home page, use the UP Library Search box to find books (and other items) available from the Clark Library collection, as well as books you can borrow from other libraries.

For the topic “environmental effects of global warming,” enter 2-3 terms that describe the main concepts of this topic: Global warming environment

Select UP + Summit to search for books.

Most relevant items (not necessarily owned by University of Portland) will be listed first.

Use the * symbol to search for variations of a word.

environment* finds environment, environments, environmental, etc.

You can choose to limit your search by:
- Items available in the library
- Format (e.g. book)
- Location
- Date (Year)
- Language
- and more

Limit to Available in the Library to see only items available at UP.
Locate UP-owned books via the location and call number, or choose the Sign in link and use the Request UP’s copy link to have books brought to the Service Desk for you to pick up.

Wondering what the call number means? See the Call Numbers handout for more help.

Text changes color based on availability of the resource. Green text = available online or in the library. Orange text = available through Summit. Dark grey text = use Interlibrary Loan. Select the Check Availability link to see if the book is available and where it is located.
If the item is available through Summit, choose the Sign In link. Enter your UP account information and then select Request from Summit (about 5 days) to request the book using your UP username and password.
